

COIL WINDING ARRANGEMENT FOR ELECTRICAL MACHINE

Abstract

An armature construction for an electrical machine that permits a wide latitude in selecting the coil groupings without changing the basic construction of the armature and without requiring relocation of the wire taps or the provision of a large number of such taps.